

5

SPACETIME EQUALIZATION IN A WIRELESS RECEIVER

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0106] A wireless receiver receives signals at a plurality of antennas and the combined signal is compensated for channel distortion. In other aspects, a wireless receiver includes a minimum distance receiver applied to the output of a whitened-matched filter, 10 which combines channel matched filtering and whitening, using one or more antennas.